

As promised, the US Department of Education has posted new information on its webpage containing guidance as to how schools can use State Stabilization dollars under the stimulus package.

The new guidance is posted at:

<http://www.ed.gov/policy/gen/leg/recovery/modernization/index.html>.

The guidance provides explanations of how ARRA funds may be used and highlights how school districts can use stimulus dollars to modernize schools. It also includes practical information as to what schools should do now in order to be ready to wisely spend new funds.

More guidance is expected soon.
